

Manufacturing Site Gets Essential Flexibility from Mobile Guarding

Mobile Guarding | Manufacturing

An On-site Guarding client with locations throughout the United States contacted Securitas for ideas on reducing security coverage during a temporary production slowdown.

Challenge:

The client's food service manufacturing plant in Georgia needed to lower their security spend without sacrificing the current security program's effectiveness.

Solution:

To maintain effectiveness while allowing flexibility in On-site Guarding coverage, Securitas Mobile Guarding was added during off hours and on weekends.

- Mobile Guarding provides two inspections of the plant's facilities during the week and three on the weekend to provide security during hours when on-site guards are not on property.
- Detailed online inspections reports are available in real-time through PatrollIVE and the officers notify the client's command center when on property.
- The flexibility of Mobile Guarding allows officers to respond to alarms or provide extra coverage if needed.

Results:

- Through integrating Mobile Guarding with On-Site Guarding, the client now has multiple, flexible security options that can be quickly aligned with the plant's changing needs.
- Mobile Guarding reduced spend without making sacrifices to the security program's effectiveness.
- Mobile officers can document incidents such as water or gate damage and send an alert to the client.
- Mobile inspection reports are provided and integrated with the current client on-site security reporting system.
