

On-site Guarding

A Knowledge Leader in On-site Guarding

Every day over 85,000 uniformed Securitas USA security officers perform a variety of duties to help maintain secure environments for thousands of clients across the United States.

Because Securitas USA is a client-focused organization, we thoroughly screen and train our officers to provide a level of service that directly responds to our clients' expectations. At the core of our service excellence strategy to increase client satisfaction, we strive to provide employees who are focused, committed and fully trained to help secure your business and assets. Additionally, we direct our internal resources so that our managers and supervisory personnel can help your security program consistently meet your goals every day.

Our On-site Guarding Services

We know that every business environment has different security needs, which is why we have leveraged our knowledge and expertise to develop a variety of guarding functions to suit every industry. After performing an Operational Analysis of your site, we will recommend the services that best fit your security needs.

Overview of security services that Securitas can provide, as they apply to your site:

- Reception/concierge services
- Console operations
- Special event security
- Patrol and inspection services
- Safety equipment checks
- Alarm and emergency response
- Employee and visitor badging and identification
- Transportation services and parking coordination
- Customized and site-specific security tasks

Tools and Training - A Winning Combination

All Securitas USA security officers go through extensive training programs that leverage online technology, curriculum from top subject matter experts, and the latest learning practices. In addition, we provide our officers with the online Learning Management System that offers self-paced learning to remain well-informed of new security threats. Once security officers are assigned to your site, they will have on-site training of your Post Orders so they are fully knowledgeable about your facilities.

At Securitas USA, we strive to use cutting edge technology when possible to increase the officer's productivity and performance at your site. Businesses of all sizes and industries choose to use SecuritasVision, a rugged tablet outfitted with our customized technology, to assist security officers with their daily duties and patrols. Incident management becomes automated and easy to process, and officers can document incidents while on tour or at their posts. SecuritasVision is a powerful tool that cannot only enhance an officer's performance but can improve the efficiency of your security program. We can help further improve this efficiency with SecuritasConnect, which provides around-the-clock access to real-time reporting. Your local branch manager will discuss with you the benefits of including SecuritasVision and Securitas Connect in your security program.

Our Commitment to Security

Securitas USA is committed to providing individualized attention to client needs. We work closely with our clients to establish their security priorities and develop action plans, performance targets and measurement systems that will help assist us in meeting or exceeding their expectations. Most importantly, clients can benefit from an integrated security solution that is demonstrably superior to what is currently in place — a program that is designed and managed to the highest professional standards. At Securitas USA, we help secure your environment, your employees and your assets, so that you can focus on your core business.
